ANACONDA, MONTANA, SUNDAY MORNING, JULY 31, 1892.

WHY DO WE LIVE?

A Short Sermon on the Ups and Downs of Human Existence.

The text of my sermon to-day will not be found within the covers of any book. It is taken from the great volume of life, and was suggested by a family of traveling mendicants singing "Call Me Back Again" beneath my office window, their cracked voices acce; apanied by the discordant notes of a ditapidated accordeon, whose musical znechanism was sadly in need of a liberal application of wagon grease, or sonr other lubricating material. The family consisted of a man and woman, a girl nearly grown, and three small children, que of which was wheeled in a by by carriage.

A glance at the members of this family, who travel from place to place, begging the means which enables them to drag out a miserable existence, led to the inquiry, "Why do we live?" If anyone can tell why such people live, or what serviceable niche they occupy in the economy of life, he will confer a kindness on his pessunistic brothers by enlightening them on the subject. Homeless wanderers they are, going among the homes of happy and prosperous people, begging means to sustain lives that are not worth living. What happiness can there be for them? Why, their very misery must be increased by contrast of their own condition with the condition of those who give them alms.

And what are the causes which produce such a vast difference in the condition of individuals? Why is one man a millionaire and another man a pauper? Is the reason to be found in our system of civitization, or does the cause lie in the individuals themselves? An examination of the records of men's lives will show the latter to be the case. Those who have succeeded in accumulating wealth have, in nine cases out of ten, been industrious and frugal all their lives, besides being gifted by nature with a shrewd business sense which enabled them to recognize a good opportunity when it presented itself. On the other hand, the men who live from hand to mouth all their days are either indolent and shiftless, or they squander their earnings on trifles instead of investing it in land or other property that will increase in value as the years roll by.

There is absolutely no excuse for any man to remain poor in this country if he desires to secure a competency. In Montana there is scarcely a wage carner who does not earn more each month than is required for the support of himself and family. If the surplus were laid by, it would be but a short time until it would amount to a sum sufficient to buy a lot in any city in the state. And there is no city in the state where town lots will not be more valuable in the future than they are to-day. If the workingmen of Butte will Tully, c, and if look about them they will find that the solid men of the city owe their wealth, in a majority of instances, to the increase of real estate values since their property came into their possession. The same is true of every town in the state, and all experience teaches that town lot investments are among the surest and most remunerative that can be made.

Among Montana cities, the one which at present offers the greatest inducements for the investment of capital in town property is Bozeman. It is best, because property values there are lower than in any other city of its size in the state. It is best, because the resources of Bozeman are as permanent and secure as the fertile soil of the magnificent valley of which it is the entrepot. It is best, because the city is just entering upon a new era of growth and improvement, which is sure to raise the value of real estate, and those who purchase now will benefit by the rise. It is best, because the people of Montana are going to locate the permanent seat of government at Bozeman, and that will give an unprecedented impetus to business of all kinds; and the fortunate possessors of town lots will see their property double in value as soon as the result of the election is announced.

The West Side Addition

To Bozeman is the best place to buy, because it is the choice residence part of the city; because it is near the electric street railway, and is within easy reach of the court house, the postoffice and the new high school building, which is being erected at a cost of $60,000; because the addition consists of choice lots throughout, every one of which has a water right conveyed with the land; because the property is far removed from swamps, and when thickly settled its sanitary conditions will always remain excellent; because the terms on which the property is offered for sale are so easy that any workingman can secure lots without discommoding himself or family.

DECISIONS OF THE UMPIRE

Spectators Send Up a Howl of Dissatisfaction-Records Made by Steeds on Eastern Tracks Yesterday.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

MISSOULA, July 30.—Butte won again and won fairly. It was a dull, tire game, where most of the work was done by the pitchers. Frank Foote started to umpire it, but the Butte men roared about his decisions, so he quit disgusted. Then John Morin umpired. He did the work as fairly as he knew how, but the Missoula team and the crowd roared and hooted. Men who looked through knot holes in the backstop said his decisions on balls and strikes were unfair, and that is probably true; but the mob acted more like hobo than citizens of a respectable town. They made it look as if the only way an umpire can get fair play here is by giving every decision in favor of Missoula.

Twineham started to catch for Missoula but he made too many costly errors, and in the second half of the second inning he was relieved by Visner, who caught a good game. Harkness also relieved Brennan in the second inning, as Brennan sprained his ankle while running. Caplinger and Callaban both pitched a beautiful game Ray played finely, as usual, and so did McVey. Gatewood and Menafee's field work brought them no great glory. The game was slow and dragging, and aside from hooting the small crowd present showed no enthusiasm.

The names of the members of congress referred to by Watson of Georgia in his pamphlet alleging drunkenness was not disclosed by him this morning at the session of the special committee appointed yesterday to inquire into the charges. He said he knew enough to substantiate them, but would not mention names except under compulsion. He said he had in mind two members. A large number of other members of the house were also called, and a number of them testified to having seen a member in the house intoxicated. No names were mentioned. The committee reserved the was chosen referee. The first two rounds were very cautions. In the third Wilks forced the fighting. There was nothing question requiring the names to be given. He was present during the debate on the silver bill at a night session in March when he wrote about the members reeling on the floor of the house intoxicated. The phrase "drunken speakers debating grave ques tions" referred to one speaker in the Noyes-Rockwell debate.

Watson said in his opinion that the speaker was in a state of maudlin intoxi-cation. In front of him was a cup and several times, and it was noticed that the more he drank the more he wandered in his argument. Watson heard the gentle-man say to the page: "Bring me more of that stuff-that whiskey."

Otis of Kansas, when asked about the member in question, said: "He was pretty well set up; the longer he proceeded the worse he grew." Miss Dwyer, congressional reporter of the National Economist, corroborated the previous witnesses. Representatives Halverson of Minnesota and Butler of Iowa each testified that on two occasions they had seen a member drunk in the aisles. Other witnesses tes tified to the same effect. Watson wanted to prove the existence of a barroom in the capital building, but Chairman Boatner wouldn't let him and wouldn't agree that the record should show his refusal. Boatner said that it was a matter of public notoriety that whiskey could be had at either the senate or the house wing of the capitol. By vote of Boatner, Buchanan of Virginia, Wolverton and Grout against, the Simpson motion to admit evidence of drinking in the house restaurant, was overruled. During Oates' testimony it developed that Cobb of Alabama was rson charged with intoxication by Waton. Cobb appealed to the committee to let the matter proceed openly and asked a thorough investigation, saying that he was not afraid of an investigation. Oates said while Cobb was speaking he appeared greatly exhausted, and some one sent him omething to drink. This stimulant had some effect on Cobb, enlivening his man ner. Oates declared, however, that Cobb was not drunk. He had known Cobb for 27 years and never knew him to be drunk. though he sometimes took a drink. Ad-

HOMESTEAD, July 30,-The evictions today and the attendant sufferings due to the storm had a depressing effect upon the community to-night. A large number of evicted families tonight are quartered in other houses by reasons of their own bedding having been ruined. The relief committee will take the matter in hand Monday.

The company officials assert that more than 900 men are now in the mills. A riot was narrowly averted to-night in Lawrenceville near the Union mills, a crowd attacking a non-union man from Homestead. The police saved his life with difficulty.

WILL BE RUNNING FULL TIME. Filling the Carnegie Works With Non-Union Men.

PITTSBURG, July 30, Secretary Lovejoy says the company will have 1,500 men at work in the Homestead mill on Monday and will be able to start up all the departments, and by the end of the week be running full time. Many skilled men are at work, including 50 old hands. As soon as Homestead is running full other mills will be started. The refusal of Judge Magee to admit Critchlow to bail seared the other rioters for whom warrants are out and nearly all have left town.
It is probable more arrests of anarchists will be made soon. The Carnegie officials are receiving threatening letters and the offices of the company are guarded by special police. Emory Spiers was arrested on complaint of John M. Dickson, a clerk in the Homestead mill and an important witness in the riot cases, who charges Spiers and others with threatening his life if he persists in testifying.

GENERAL SNOWDEN TALKS. The Situation at Homestead - The Punish-

He says few people understand the situation accurately, as there has been a practical press censorship and correspondents have been prevented from describing the situation as it actually existed. He says the trouble is by no means over, the men merely being everawed by the presthe military. As long as this state of affairs exists, brigade troops will remain on the ground. The strikers are full of threats and declare they will have the lives of the non-union men as soon as the military leave. They believe the works belong to them as much as to the Carnegie company. General Snowden says he ordered Private lams to be disgraced and drummed out of camp, but declines to say what his opinion is as to tying him up by the thumbs, though he intimates the punishment was deserved, as his act was treason in time of actual revolution.

TROOPERS EXCITED.

Rumors that Homesteal Strikers Are About to Attack the Militia.

HOMESTEAD, July 30.-Considerable exitement was created in the camp last night by the rumor that an attack would be made from the rear of the camp of Battery B. There is a regular settle-ment of foreigners in the narrow valley back of Battery B headquarters, fully 50 or 60 families, nearly all of them anarchistic and pronounced enemies of the guardsmen. The military are exercising great vigilance.

It seems to be the general feeling among townspeople outside of the association, that the strike soon will be declared off. The Carnegie company is continually putting in non-union men.

LEAVING THEIR HOMES Families at Homestead Leaving the Carnegie Company Houses.

HOMESTEAD, July 30 .- Sixty workmen's families occupying the company's houses, who were served with eviction notices several days ago, moved out to-day. The Carnegie people claim they wantonly damaged the houses since ordered out. The houses will be at once put in repair for the non-union men, and additional houses will be built. Manwhile arrangements have been made to accommodate 2,000 men in the works. Eight hundred and seventy-three men are now at work, and the edvisory committee of the strikers say they will be able to induce half of these to quit next week.

Knold and Bauer. PITTSBUEG, July 30.—Knold and Bauer, the Allegheny anarchists, had a hearing to-day, at the conclusion of which the were held for the court in $2,000 each. Testimony was given by the police and other witnesses as to the incendiary literature circulated by the men, their communications with Most, Bergman, etc. Detectives told of the finding of a rifle, revolvers and a large supply of ammunition in Bauer's residence. A translation of one of the circulars was read.

At the Duquesne Works

PITTSBURG, July 30.-Preparations are being made at Duquesne to resume work with non-union men on Monday. The strikers, however, are confident that the firm will be unable to get men to start the plant. The Wayne Iron company signed the Amalgamated scale to-day.

London Anarchists. LONDON, July 39 .- Anarchists held a large meeting in Whitechapel to-night, a which various phases of the Homestead trouble were discussed. One of the leaders said an international anarchists' strike must be brought about to begin a universal social revolution.
